American Bombers End Jap Threat to New Guinea Forces

223 Tons of Explosives Dropped on Two Main Enemy Positions

BULLETIN

Washington, Nov. 15—(AP)—The Navy today counted a total of 496 enemy vessels sunk or damaged by U. S. submarines with the report of six more Japanese merchant ships and a plane transport sunk, and two other merchant ships hit.

America's submarines thus far have sunk 346 Japanese ships, possibly sunk 36 others and damaged 114.

Southwest Pacific Allied Headquarters, Nov. 15—(AP)—American bombers, in a perfectly coordinated three-day attack, dropped a record load of 223 tons of explosives on Alexishafen and Madang, ending for the time being an increasing threat to allied positions on New Guinea.

The mission was to smash bases from which the Japanese had been strafing Australian troops and American aircraft in New Guinea's Markham and Ramu valleys, and apparently supplying forward bases.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique today said great fires were started in fuel and supply areas, four enemy planes were destroyed on the ground, anti-aircraft positions silenced, three luggers and five barges destroyed in the harbor and the entire area given such a thorough blasting smoke rose in a thick blanket.

A strong force of fighters formed a protective umbrella, but not a Japanese plane rose to fight.

As to the land fighting on Bougainville, where U. S. Marines secured a beachhead at Empress Augusta bay Nov. 1, Adm. William F. Halsey, Jr., commander of the South Pacific forces, visited the farthest point of penetration on Friday and commented that "progress now is heartening".

PREPARE FOR BAD NEWS

Washington, Nov. 15—(AP)—Japan's vanishing victories in the South Pacific, it now turns out, may be intended by Tokyo propagandists to lead into an easy explanation of defeat by allied forces closing in on Rabaul.

Capital analysts who advanced this possibility noted that it would not be the first time the enemy has wiped a resounding setback off the books by claiming that a key position had accomplished its purpose and no longer was needed anyway. They used that line after both Guadalcanal and Kiska.

Rabaul for the Japanese is not only a well-developed base but has considerable symbolic importance as a key position in the outer ring of their defenses. Now that the warlords must see clearly that they are losing it, their problem becomes, how to make the future bad news look good?

Build Up for Alibi

The invention of victory by a phantom fleet in equally imaginary battles, some American observers now believe, is designed to prepare the Japanese people for a reshuffle of the old Guadalcanal-Kiska explanation.

Tokyo's Sunday communique, after adding half a dozen warships to the astronomical list previously claimed as sunk or damaged, said:

"The Anglo-Americans have such large reserves in this area that they could immediately form

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Nazidom's great man, who claims to work wonders by intuition, indeed seems to have had a flash of second-sight (or was it just horse-sense?) during his recent Munich beer-cellar speech when he told his people in about so many words that they were headed for mountains of grief.

The titanic battle on the Russian front has worsened suddenly for the Hitlerites. Two outstanding developments indicate that this greatest of all armed conflicts is in the midst of another far-reaching crisis. The events are:

1. The Red avalanche has engulfed Zhitomir, thereby slashing Hitler's thousand-mile front virtually in two.

2. The Germans today announced that half a million Russian troops have broken through the Nazi defenses in the Dnieper-bend trap which the Muscovites are trying to close about the Hitlerites in that region. This hasn't been confirmed by the Soviet.

The Berlin statement about a break-through at the trap would seem to be calculated to prepare the German public for another big withdrawal of their forces in that area. As a matter of fact it would not be surprising if the retreat already is well on its way.

If this is true, there is direct relation between the retirement in the extreme south and the dangerous extension of the Red wedge which has been driven into the Nazi line at Zhitomir to the north. A deep thrust through the front above the Dnieper bend would render the German position on the southern flank untenable.

The mighty Russian war-machine is gathering momentum as the ground freezes.

While the Hitlerites have been able to retreat without falling into a general rout, they not only have been suffering heavy casualties but have lost a colossal amount of material.

Meantime, the American and British bombing team is ripping

Cold Wave Near

Chicago, Nov. 15—(AP)—A cold wave, the first of the new winter season, which will bring temperatures ranging from 10 degrees below zero in northern Minnesota to 15 above in southern Illinois was forecast today by E. S. Hanlon, district forecaster of the U. S. weather bureau.

The cold wave, Hanlon said, has already struck northern Minnesota and will move southward to southern Illinois by Tuesday. He forecast temperatures 10 below in northern Minnesota, zero to 5 above in southern Wisconsin, northwestern Illinois and southern Iowa; and 15 above in southern Illinois.

Occasional light snow and strong northerly winds were also forecast, Hanlon said.

Aldred De Marigny, Friend Invited to Get Out of Bahamas

Husband of Nancy Oakes to Remarry Her in Church Today

Nassau, Bahamas, Nov. 15—(AP)—Shortly after it was learned that he has been invited to leave the Bahamas, Alfred De Marigny announced today that he and his wife, the former Nancy Oakes, would be re-married this afternoon.

The twice-divorced De Marigny said he had obtained permission for the ceremony from the Catholic archbishop in charge of this diocese. He set the time as 2 p. m. and the place as the Francis Xavier church.

De Marigny was acquitted last week of the murder of his wife's millionaire father, Sir Harry Oakes.

The jury voted a unanimous recommendation that he be deported from the Bahamas. The governor-in-council, at a special meeting Saturday, decided to invite De Marigny and his close friend, Marquis Georges De Visdelou, to leave the colony.

Not Married in Church De Marigny explained that he and Nancy will be wed again because "we were not married in a church before."

In an interview, he said he hoped that those in the United States would understand his troubles.

"We are between the devil and the deep blue sea," he said, adding that "we would have a breathing spell and make plans if we could

Five-Time Deserter Captured Saturday

Pvt. Paul Schultheis, who is reported to have a record of five desertions from the United States army, was taken in custody Saturday afternoon on a farm about six miles south of Dixon by Sheriff L. E. Bates and Deputy Henry Wilson. According to the officers, Schultheis was hiding behind a clump of brush in a field, and armed with an unloaded shotgun when he was captured. He was taken at once to Camp Grant where he was delivered to the provost marshal's office.

Schultheis deserted from Camp Meade, Md., on Oct. 23rd, Sheriff Bates reported and succeeded in reaching Dixon where he had obtained employment on a farm. Last September he was taken in custody as a deserter and delivered to Camp Grant, where he managed to dig his way out of the detention camp within a few hours and was recaptured a few hours later. Before leaving the county jail for Camp Grant, Schultheis told the officers that he would desert again as soon as the opportunity presented itself. Sheriff Bates stated today, parts where possible, repair broken toys, paint them and turn them out looking just like new. Doll buggies, sleds tricycles and every description of toys and playthings receive their careful attention.

Anyone having toys of any kind that are not being used are asked to take them to the fire department, where they will be rejuvenated and put to good use at Christmas time. Such articles should be brought in at once.

OPA Assailed in Report Written by House Committee

Charged With Usurpation of Executive Powers Not Given by Law

Washington, Nov. 15—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration was roundly assailed today by a congressional committee which accused it of having promulgated "illegal, absurd, useless and conflicting" regulations and of having "construed its power to authorize it to sentence citizens of the United States to starvation."

The committee, headed by Rep. Smith (D-Va) and created by the house to keep a check on activities of executive agencies, recommended changes in existing law to "restrain and strengthen inflation control and at the same time eliminate the abuses and injustices now apparent."

Conceding a need for "extraordinary governmental action" in time of war to mobilize the nation's economic as well as military resources, the committee said "there are right and wrong ways to accomplish these purposes," the wrong way being by the usurpation of power by executive agencies through "misinterpretation and abuse of powers" granted by congress "and the assumption of powers not granted."

Report Is Attacked There was no immediate official comment by OPA, but Reps. Scanlon (D-Pa) and McMurray (D-Wis), chairman and secretary respectively of the Congressional Committee for the Protection of Consumers, promptly issued a statement on behalf of this group

Clear as Mud

Washington, Nov. 15—(AP)—A congressional committee today cited as what it termed "a typical example of the legalistic language employed by the Office of Price Administration" the following language from amendment No. 5 to maximum price regulation 319:

All commodities listed in appendix A are those known to the trade as such excepting therefrom such thereof, if any, which subject to another regulation.

attacking the Smith committee conclusions as "unfortunate, misleading and harmful to our national stabilization program."

"The Smith report is based upon questionable, and in many instances, seriously biased interpretations of the statutory and constitutional powers of OPA," said the Scanlon-McMurray statement, which asserted the consumers-protection committee had a membership of more than 60 congressmen "vitaly concerned with the effective operation of our price control and rationing program."

The reply said this group "does not hold that the OPA should be above criticism or that the OPA in the past has not made some mistakes," but added: "those forces in our country who have from the outset opposed effective price control and rationing will, in the Smith committee report, find comfort and a new weapon in their fight against our war government's anti-inflation program."

Against the OPA the Smith committee made this charge:

Text of Charges "The Office of Price Administration has assumed unauthorized powers to legislate by regulation and has, by misinterpretation of acts of congress, set up a nationwide system of judicial tribunals through which this executive agency judges the actions of American citizens relative to its own regulations and orders and imposes drastic and unconstitutional penalties upon those citizens, depriving them in certain instances of vital rights and liberties with-

Congress Is Asked to Authorize Fund for Relief Agency

Washington, Nov. 15—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today to authorize appropriations for United States participation in activities of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

After the UNRRA meeting in Atlantic City ends, he said he would inform congress of its result and ask the appropriation of specific sums.

In a message to the legislators, the chief executive said that each nation would determine for itself the amount and character of its contribution, and that it was hoped "a small fraction of the national income of the contributing member states" would be sufficient to help liberated peoples to help themselves in rebuilding homes, factories and farms.

The UNRRA agreement, Roosevelt said, provides only a framework for giving "first aid" in liberated areas and the agency will make only a beginning in the tremendous job of aiding war victims. The liberated peoples themselves, he said, will assume the greater share of the task.

UNRRA, the chief executive asserted, will help furnish medicine, food, clothing, and basic necessities and services needed to restore the strength of liberated peoples.

Deliberately Stripped "They have been deliberately stripped by the enemy," Roosevelt said, "in order to support the axis war machine. More than that, the axis leaders have boasted that as they withdraw, they will leave only devastation—what they have not stolen, they will destroy."

"As our American soldiers fight their way up the Italian boot, they are discovering at first hand that the barbarians of the nazis is equal to their boast. Their only rivals in this respect are the Japanese."

As occupied areas are freed, the president said, their peoples are being enlisted in support of allies armies. Already, he said, a new French army has been created and increasing numbers in Sicily and Italy are falling in step beside United Nations soldiers or are constructing roads

DeKalb Co. Telephone Strike Ends Saturday

DeKalb, Ill., Nov. 15—(AP)—Telephone service was normal today in five DeKalb county towns where a strike of operators had paralyzed telephone communication from 10:30 a. m. Friday to 7:30 p. m. Saturday.

Striking operators and representatives of the independent DeKalb-Ogle Telephone Company reached an agreement Saturday at a meeting with Charles Alsip, federal labor conciliator. A new contract, awaiting War Labor Board approval, raises wages of new operators 8 cent an hour and experienced workers (employed six months or more) 7 cents an hour. The contract is retroactive to Nov. 7.

The Nov. 7 contract will raise all wages to or above 40 cents an hour, company officials said.

William G. Collins, business manager of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, of which the operators are members, said the strike was unauthorized and "out of my jurisdiction."

Army Glider Crashes; Three-Man Crew Dead

Lawrenceville, Ill., Nov. 15—(AP)—The three-man crew of an Army glider was killed yesterday when the glider crashed 10 miles southwest of Olney, Ill., the George Field public relations office announced.

The glider was being towed from an Army air field at Sedalia, Mo., to Bowman Field, Ky., but its home base was Maxton Army Air Base, N. C.

Whether the rope attaching the glider to its tow plane broke or whether the crew cut loose after trouble possibly developed with the glider was not known.

"Apparently nobody saw it and nobody knows exactly what happened," the public relations office said.

Names of the crew of two flight officers and one enlisted man were not announced. A board of officers from George Field was appointed to investigate the crash.

Russian Army Near Korosten Junction in Swift Advances

Germans Admit Soviet Break-Through in Bend of Dnieper

BULLETIN

Moscow, Nov. 15—(AP)—Masses of Red army infantry, cavalry, tanks and self-propelled guns pouring into the hole west of Kiev to Baranovka have reached a point only 35 miles from the per-war borders of Russia and Poland.

A 42-mile advance took the plunging soviet columns into Baranovka since the capture of the rail junction of Zhitomir on Saturday.

Thirty-eight miles to the northwest of Baranovka is the town of Gorodnitsa, just inside the old Russian border. Fifty-two miles directly west of Baranovka is Ostrog, just inside the old Polish frontier.

The old line of demarcation slanting to the northeast from Ostrog comes within 35 miles of the present Red army lines.

London, Nov. 15—(AP)—The German high command announced today that Russian Cossacks and tanks, in a sweeping drive west of Gomel, had driven to Rechitsa, about 30 miles to the southwest on the railroad linking Gomel with Poland, but had been beaten back in attempts to capture the town itself.

Rechitsa's seizure would sever one of the two remaining rail lines over which the Nazi defenders of the old fortress of Gomel might fall back to escape the encircling soviet movement.

The advance along the northern edges of the vast Pripiet marshes also threatened to split off the northern German armies from the forces of the central front.

Another Berlin broadcast acknowledged evacuation of Zhitomir, rail junction on the nazis' last north-south railroad artery east of the old Polish border, whose fall threatened to cut the central

Badoglio to Leave With Fall of Rome

Italian Headquarters in Italy, Nov. 15—(AP)—Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio's pledge to resign as head of the Italian government when Rome falls was quickly followed today by strong indications that King Vittorio Emanuele's abdication is only a matter of time.

Dr. Leopoldo Piccardi, who quit as minister of labor and commerce on the heels of Badoglio's statement yesterday, reflected the general attitude that the end is near for the monarch when he told friends he could not afford to be associated with premier's proposed "technical cabinet" and, by inference, with the king.

By his statement that he would quit when the allies reach Rome, Badoglio reversed previous declarations he would stay in office until the Germans are driven from the country.

Badoglio's decision was a direct result of his refusal to take part in any government which unseats the aged king.

"When I was 17," the marshal said at a press conference, "I swore loyalty to the king and will keep faith as long as I live."

Badoglio now has abandoned efforts to form a representative government. He announced Saturday he would set up what was designated as a technical cabinet—a mere government framework in which minor functionaries would carry on the necessary work until the capital is freed.

Gov. Bricker of Ohio Is Definitely In Race for Republican Nomination

Columbus, O., Nov. 15—(AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker announced formally today he was a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

His statement also renounced any bid for a fourth term as governor.

In view of the great needs, confident of the fact that the Republican party will be called upon to lead our nation at the next election, I shall be a candidate for President of the United States in the Ohio primaries and before the Republican national convention," he asserted.

Reports Situation in Lebanon Is Now Potentially Grave

Cairo, Nov. 15—(AP)—The situation in Lebanon is "potentially grave" and a real clash between the natives and the French "might come at any time—no one knows when," Curtis Ryan, controller of the British ministry of information in the Middle East, said today on his return from Beirut.

He said casualties in the political controversy already had totaled 140, including 10 or 12 dead, and future armed struggles might occur in either Lebanon or Syria.

Richard G. Casey, British minister of state in the Middle East, who returned from Beirut last night, explained Britain's position in the Franco-Lebanese dispute today to Gen. Georges Catroux, empowered by the French Committee of National Liberation to seek a settlement.

Catroux, who conferred in Beirut yesterday with Sir Edward Spears, British minister to Lebanon and Syria, urged Catroux to reach Beirut quickly. Catroux in 1941 promised Lebanon full independence.

Britain Concerned The British government, which has expressed concern over the situation and lodged a protest with the French, also made representations to the French committee against an attack by French troops in Beirut Saturday against students waiting outside the British legation to see Spears. It was reported from Jerusalem that six students were wounded.

(The Associated Press learned in London that the British expect Catroux to order the release of Lebanese cabinet ministers and parliament members under arrest; withdraw Jean Louis Helieu, who ordered the arrests and set up a provisional government; negotiate with the Lebanese over the question of their independence and sovereignty.)

Meantime Egyptians expressed the view that the disturbances in Lebanon may be a test case on the issue of freedom promised various small countries in this theater and forecast other outbreaks unless the situation is ended promptly and amicably.

Nazi U-Boat Warfare to Be Extended Says Berlin Radio Today

London, Nov. 15—(AP)—The Berlin radio asserted today that the field of German submarine operations, "so far confined mainly to the Atlantic and adjoining waters," soon will be greatly extended. This extension of operational areas will force the enemy to transfer naval escort craft and airplanes to other seas," the broadcast declared. "A corresponding weakening of his convoy escorts will be the inevitable everywhere."

His only reference to delegates in any state was that he would seek to win support of the Ohio delegation.

The governor said last week that his action in other states would be determined by events "as they come to pass."

His withdrawal from the gubernatorial picture threw open the field to four potential candidates, who, according to all reports, refused to withdraw during a dinner with Bricker last night and thus clear the way for one of the quartet and prevent any intra-party dispute.

American Mitchells Attack Rail System in Force Yesterday

Battle Lines in Italy Remain Virtually Unchanged Over Sunday

BULLETIN

Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 15—(AP)—A violent air attack in northern Italy which could be seen and heard in this Swiss city began at 11:30 a. m. today. The target apparently was the railroad center of Luino, 24 miles northwest of Como.

London, Nov. 15—(AP)—The American Fifth Army launched a heavy new attack on German positions last night in a drive toward Cassino on the main inland road to Rome, the German-controlled Paris radio declared today.

Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Nov. 15—(AP)—American B-25 Mitchell medium bombers ranged in force over Sofia yesterday, making the first air attack on the Bulgarian capital from this theater in a blow designed to dislocate traffic over the whole Balkan rail system, while ground in Italy the battle lines remained virtually unchanged.

Other bombers swept into France for their third crack at the important Anthor railway viaduct near Cannes, and light bombers shot up the harbor of Civitavecchia on the west coast of Italy.

Escorted by P-38 Lightnings the Mitchells dipped over Sofia's railway yards in two big formations, dropping tons of explosives on the target. Nine out of approximately 24 German intercepting fighters were shot down in a fierce battle. "This successful opening of the Balkan offensive has a far reaching consequence," an official announcement said.

ETAOIN ETAOIN ETAOIN N N "Through this immensely important rail center German supplies are transported to Greece and down into the islands of the Aegean and also to the western Balkans. The Sofia railway yards link up with rail routes through Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria and congestion at Sofia would have the effect of dislocating traffic over the whole Balkan rail system."

Allies Lose One Plane In all the day and night air operations, including fighter sweeps over the battle areas and attacks in northern Italy and Yugoslavia, the allies listed one plane as lost. Concerning the ground fighting across Italy, the daily communique said only that the Eighth Army had carried out successfully patrol actions while on the Fifth front the enemy maintained a firm defense.

Both sides appeared to be consolidating positions and bringing up reserves for an impending major battle during a period of lull and sporadic rainfall.

The Germans have sent fighter planes back to the battlefields of Italy in the greatest force since Salerno. After weeks during which only occasional Nazi aircraft were encountered, a headquarters announcement yesterday said no less than 60 had been counted during the day. Nine were shot down.

A dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Don Whitehead said rain-soaked doughboys beat off several German counterattacks yesterday in the Fifth Army central sector yesterday and held hard-won heights north of Mignano.

He wrote that American troops on that sector are eating off as many as four and five counterattacks each night by small forces of Germans who approach under cover of darkness.

ISLAND FIGHTING

Cairo, Nov. 15—(AP)—British troops improved their positions in central and northern sectors of the Dodecanese island of Leros yesterday, inflicting substantial casualties on the Germans and capturing a number of prisoners, a Middle East communique announced today.

The fierce fighting for the island, important in the strategy of the Aegean because of its submarine base, was accompanied by continued aerial blows in which long-range fighter sweeps and bomber assaults were carried out over the German positions. Nine allied planes were lost.

The battle for Leros was still

Few of Filipinos Are Misled by Jap Independence Edict

Fight Will be Taken Up Anew, Repatriate on Gripsholm Says

BY RAYMOND P. CRONIN
Aboard the Exchange Ship Gripsholm—(AP)—The people of the Philippines expect the Americans back—and they're planning and fighting to hasten the day. They don't say "If the Americans come back..." They say, "When..."

They are handed heavy doses of Japanese propaganda, but most of them do not swallow it.

For more than a year, Tokyo's demands for peace and order in the Philippines were upset by thousands of Filipinos who joined scores of American officers and men to organize guerrilla bands. Functioning in and from the mountain areas of Manila all that time, these guerrillas helped keep the Japanese stranglehold from closing in.

Even until I left the Santo Tomas internment camp as a repatriate after 21 months there, some of the guerrilla groups were still in operation.

Face Major Problem

In recent months guerrilla warfare has been unorganized and isolated. But I was told that when the right times comes the Japanese will find themselves face to face with a major guerrilla problem.

It is certain that the Japanese do not know how to win the friendship of the Filipinos. I know these people. I know there is one thing you cannot do to them and expect friendship and service. You can't make them a public spectacle and achieve those results.

Yet the Japanese parade Filipino political prisoners through the streets without hats, shoes or shirts—groups of young natives who violated one of the many, many rules which cover every moment of the day.

The Japanese are trying to beat the Filipinos into their way of thinking—with cruelty and public indignity. In this way they are winning nothing more than hatred, a hatred which I believe will flare into the open one of these days.

"Sleepers" in Constitution

The new Filipino constitution was ratified quickly in mid-September. It contained no conscription clause, but I have been told that under a clause covering the drafting of treaties with foreign powers the Japanese could dictate and literally shove down the Filipinos' throats a treaty under which they could be drafted.

The constitution follows closely that of the United States, with important exceptions. It carries our Bill of Rights with a reservation stating that such rights become null if peace and order are threatened.

"The constitution is okay as far as it goes," one Filipino authority told me. "It does not commit us for the future, and will die a natural death as the Japs are forced to leave the island."

Throughout the Philippines are many Japanese language schools, but it is noticeable that most of those attending hold government positions. Young Filipinos from the best families are sent to Japan to study and to prepare for future national leadership.

Expect Total Absorption

Most older Filipinos feel that the Japanese granted "independence" means total absorption subsequently.

The last four months, the Philippines, a heavy sugar producer, has experienced a serious sugar shortage. I am told that the Japanese took all sugar reserves to make glycerine and alcohol.

There is a widespread rice shortage. Prices on everything are skyrocketing; some already have reached fantastic heights.

Hospital records at Santo Tomas in recent months showed large numbers of diet deficiency cases, but that does not mean that the remaining internees are starving now. However, they are faced by eventual starvation unless some plan is evolved assuring the meagre supplies of essential foods and medicines. Insulin is needed.

The internees in Manila in-

Australians Rescue Bears from Starving

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 15—(AP)—The starving teddy bears on Quail Island had a picnic yesterday.

The island is a haven for Koala bears which their appetites have turned into a death trap. Koalas became so numerous on the island they ate all the leaves off the eucalyptus trees—their only food.

So four hundred people trooped to the island on bicycles, motor-bikes and trucks, all loaded down with bunches of the leaves. The teddy bears watched with popping eyes while the people tied the picnic lunch on the barren branches.

The government has promised to consider wholesale removal of the excess teddy bears.

"Wounded in action," the message said. But this is what the message said to me.

Young and strong and loving life yet he knew that it had to be. That he fought till he fell in combat.

In a battle for liberty. He lay among thousands of comrades to fight.

"Somewhere in Italy". There is nothing I know of the future.

The past is dead and gone. But the present is here for me to face.

And I will carry on. I will do my part on the home front.

For all of the boys over there, Praying by bit will eliminate a message.

"Wounded in action, somewhere." To Mrs. Lois Peterson and "Buddy" from mother and grand-ma. Mabel Nagel.

LEE CO. IS NO EXCEPTION

I was very much surprised to hear that the telephones that were installed at the court house which were to be used in the event of an air raid in Lee county may be removed, based on the opinion that there is no danger of an air raid occurring in Lee county. The thing that surprised me most of all was the reason that was given for their removal. All of us have a right to form our opinion one way or another as to what may or what may not happen here regarding air raids, sabotage, etc. but I believe it to be a very sad and dangerous mistake for any one of us to form an opinion based only upon bits of information gathered here and there and then allow themselves to become wrapped up in a cloak of security. This kind of security is nothing more than the imaginary kind but it surely is the kind that our enemies want us to have. It is also the kind of security that will find multitudes of people unprotected and unprepared in the event that bombing ever do occur here. The ostrich that hid his head in the sand well all know his fate. No one knows

General Code for Broadcasting Plan of Senate Group

Washington, Nov. 15—(AP)—Predicting that the senate interstate commerce committee will write a general charter for broadcasting, Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont) said today he would seek inclusion of a requirement that persons "slandered" by radio commentators be afforded an opportunity to answer on subsequent programs.

Wheeler said he had no doubt the committee would incorporate into the proposed measure many of the regulations already put into effect by the Federal Communications Commission and add some new wrinkles of its own.

"I feel that we should write into the law a provision which would stipulate that if any commentator slanders a person, then that person should have the right to answer his charges on the same hour and the same program," Wheeler said in an interview.

He contended that while slander may be made the basis of a suit, damage often is done that can not be offset unless the same listeners are reached with the answer—a circumstance he said seldom occurs now.

As he urges the temper of the committee, Wheeler said he believes it is ready to recommend legislation that will give detailed guidance to the FCC in its future regulation of the industry. He predicted these rules would permit stations on one chain to take programs from another broadcasting organization and in general would "relieve individual stations from domination by the chains".

London, Nov. 15—(AP)—Germany is beset with inflation, the British ministry of economic warfare indicated today, with the amount of notes circulating in the Reich skyrocketing from eight billion marks at the start of the war to about 30 billion now.

The inflation was attributed to pyramiding of government borrowing to finance the war effort as well as recent extensive repair work resulting from the allied air blitz.

Cities Are Asked to Forego Holiday Lighting This Year

Voluntary community contribution to direct savings of coal, manpower, transportation and materials by confining Christmas lighting to trees in private homes is asked by the War Production Board, Frank Bastable, manager of the Rockford district WPB office said today.

The WPB request was made entirely in the interest of conserving the use of electricity and light bulbs he said, and this in turn will save coal.

Government and industry, with the wholehearted cooperation of utility companies, have combined in a nationwide conservation campaign to save critical coal, Bastable said.

"The WPB is asking every community to refrain from its Christmas lighting custom as part of that campaign. Electric light bulbs are made of critical materials and strict conservation of them is necessary. Widespread consumption of bulbs during the Christmas season merely will mean a greater scarcity later on.

"Because of the shortness of daylight over most of the country at Christmas time, necessary consumption of electricity is at its peak. Everything we can do to avoid any additional load will mean direct savings of coal, manpower, transportation and materials. The request does not seek to put out the lights on trees in private homes," he said.

1,900 Navy Trainees on Illinois Campus

Urbana-Champaign, Ill., Nov. 15—A man who started his seafaring career as an eight-year-old cabin boy has become commander of the U. S. Naval Training School at the University of Illinois. Lieut.-Com. Edwin Philips heads the 1,900 sailors on this inland campus.

The group includes 450 in V-12 college training, 800 being trained in visual signaling by Navy instructors, 500 being trained as diesel engine operators by Navy instructors, and 150 in the "ship's company" of administrators and teachers.

Commander Philips has had 24 years of sea duty, ranging from sailing ships and tramp steamers to warships and the Leviathan. A graduate of Seton University in an interval ashore before the first World war, he came ashore again in 1924 to be a secondary school principal until called to Navy duty in 1933.

Sugar Inventories for Dealers Are Unchanged

Washington, Nov. 15—(AP)—Increased sugar inventories allowed retailers and wholesalers on a temporary basis through November 15 will be maintained indefinitely, the Office of Price Administration said today.

OFA originally allowed the increases to meet demands for home canning. The permission was later extended to take care of heavier supplemental rations granted to bakers, confectioners and other industrial users.

HOME BUREAU HEARS INTERESTING FACTS FROM LOCAL LEADERS

A most enjoyable meeting of the Dixon Afternoon unit of Home Bureau was held Friday afternoon at the beautiful country home of Mrs. Estella Borncamp.

Mrs. Earl Auman, unit chairman, opened the meeting by group singing which was under the direction of Mrs. Bertha Rorick Sawyer.

Mrs. Frank Gates then favored the unit with a reading comparing the good old fashioned home with the modern home.

The major lesson "Selections and Making of Curtains" by the local leader, Mrs. Ted Hughes, was presented. She gave many good hints for the selection of materials, types of window treatment, general factors to consider when selecting curtains and draperies, and the construction of both curtains and draperies.

The minor lesson, "International Highway" was presented by Mrs. Eric Gerdes. Her story was of the longest road in the world which has been declared an engineer's dream, but proved to be a reality.

The suggestion for an International highway was first made at the Fifth International Conference of the American Republics at Chile in 1923. The plan grew and with the help of the United States, Central America and South America, construction was started. With the building of the road we have a Pan-American highway reaching from Argentina to Alaska.

At the business meeting it was announced that ten new members and one associate member have joined the unit. Plans were made for the December meeting, at which time a luncheon will take place at a local tea room in honor of the new members. The lesson and Christmas party will then be held at the home of Mrs. Earl Auman.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and a most enjoyable social time followed. Fifteen members were present.

TWO WORLD TRAVELERS ARE GUESTS AT DIXON WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING SATURDAY

Over 150 members and guests of the Dixon Woman's club sat in the Loveland Community House last Saturday afternoon while they traveled through adventures and scenic beauty with Elizabeth Sheffield and Beatrice Bond, by story and picture. These two Chicago teachers have spent many of their summer vacations traveling to all parts of the United States and to many parts of the world. Mrs. Sheffield told of her experiences and Miss Bond showed movies and explained them and also exhibited some sketches which she had made on her trip.

Australia was fascinating with its unusual animals and its magnificent scenery some of which reminded them of our Grand Canyon country. Snow is very rare along the seacoast and they had the unique experience of being with a driver up in the mountains as he ran into a snow storm for the first time. He was so thrilled that he packed a bucket full of snow to take back for his friends in the city to see.

Some of the customs of New Zealand were unusual—the natives rubbed noses as a greeting, the cows and sheep wore blankets during the winter time, the women cooked in peculiar little boxes and the houses were covered with beautiful carvings. One of the fine trips on the island is to visit the hot springs which are very similar to our hot spring section of Yellowstone.

The harbor at Samoa is one of the most beautiful natural harbors in the world. Here they saw the governor's mansion and witnessed the parade of boats which were decorated like floats to escort a departing governor from the island. Samoans sit cross-legged on the ground or floor even in church. One of their food delicacies is baked bananas.

The Fiji islands have lost all trace of their cannibalistic tradition. High pompadour hair dress is typical there both with the men and women. Also the natives like to give their hair a reddish tinge with lime juice. It was here that Mrs. Sheffield had a dress made from material she had purchased in Australia. She took the goods in at 10 o'clock in the morning and at four in the afternoon it was finished. This was the dress she wore Saturday.

Tahiti has all the glamor that any travel folder can give it. The kindness and beauty of the people is remarkable. It was also on the Society Island group that they found the natives burning coconuts on the ground to get rid of them. They noticed a peculiar odor at one place and found that it was the vanilla beans which had been picked off from a certain variety of orchid and were fermenting to make our extract. Here they happened on a barbecue where they could have coconut milk in the half shell, mango preserves and their choice of barbecued pig or dog.

Hawaii was described as a place to live and enjoy life. The flowers, the pineapple plantations where they found pineapple juice running out of a fountain in one of the big buildings, the friendliness of the people, the melodies and dances and the scenery of the islands all combine to make it a tropical paradise.

At the conclusion of the pictures and lecture they displayed some of the things which they had purchased on their trip.

The speakers were introduced by Mrs. Wilber Puffs, chairman of the press and publicity committee, who had traveled with Mrs. Sheffield in Europe in 1937, three years before this Pacific trip.

Mrs. N. W. Dietrich announced that the finance committee was sponsoring a bake and produce sale for the benefit of local charities next Saturday. Each member of the club was asked to have something at the Chester Barriage Appliance shop next Saturday morning by 8:30 when the sale will start. This is the only outside money making project of the year and the money from it is used for glasses, dental work, tonsilectomies and other things for needy children in Dixon.

Miss Lorraine Missman read a long list of new members who were welcomed into the club. A collection of $38 was taken up for Christmas presents for Camp Grant soldiers.

Mrs. Adolph Eichler announced that the next book review will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 in the Loveland Community House and will be given by Mrs. Charles Johnston, Jr., of Dixon. The book will be "Katharine" by Hans Habe. The public is invited.

During the business meeting Miss Grace O'Malley read a paper which was prepared by Mrs. W. W. Roat for the art appreciation moment which was entitled "Modern Design in Silver."

A tribute to Mrs. W. T. Terrill, past president who had passed away recently, was given by Mrs. L. N. Deutsch. Money for an acre of trees to be set out in the Mason state forest was given by the club in honor of Mrs. Terrill.

Mrs. J. R. McDaniel, district garden chairman, told of the donation to the club of 400 tulip bulbs by W. C. Wood. The local garden chairman, Mrs. Harold Emmert and Mrs. McDaniel had decided that the best place to plant these bulbs would be in a flower bed in front of the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital in Dixon. This work was accomplished and the bed will be planted with other flowers next summer by Woman's club garden enthusiasts.

The Dixon Woman's club members are invited to be guests of the Ashton club on Nov. 19 at 2:30 in the memorial building there to hear the Allied Arts Trio of Chicago.

Franklin Grove Seniors Present Play This Week

What is a royalty play? A certain sum of money is paid for the use of it, and the audience witnessing a play of this type is sure to get their money's worth. The Senior class of Franklin Grove high school will present a comedy "Leave to Marry" (a royalty play) at 8:00 o'clock on November 19, at the Kersten gymnasium there.

"Leave to Marry" will undoubtedly be just what the doctor ordered for many groups this season. The up-to-the-minute-ness of the plot will appeal to both young and old. It's a laugh show from start to finish.

Mrs. Loomis (Betty Ann McDivitt) and Mrs. Farris (Jackie Canode) live in adjacent homes. Waldo Farris (Wayne Shaulis) and Beverly Loomis (Arlene Thompson) have known each other from childhood. Their mothers think it would be nice if the two youngsters would marry. Waldo thinks he is engaged to Beverly while Beverly becomes engaged to Lieutenant Fred Finley (Ben Smith). Percy Loomis (Arlene Ives) is very fond of Waldo, the boy-next-door. Many complications arise and there is much confusion when at Beverly's and Freddie's wedding hour there is no preacher to be found. Altogether it should be an interesting event.

ORDER OF EASTERN STAR CONVENTION STARTS IN CHICAGO

Preliminary to the 24th triennial international assembly of the Order of the Eastern Star, which opens a three day session today in Chicago's Medinah temple, approximately 1,000 members of the order gathered in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House at a 6:30 o'clock dinner Saturday evening. It was given in honor of Mrs. Effie Easton of San Francisco, Calif., most worthy grand matron, and Charles Townsend of Casper, Wyo., most worthy grand patron.

Gov. Dwight Green, Mayor Edward J. Kelly, and Mrs. Frederick Berry were among those giving welcoming addresses at the dinner, and responding were Mrs. Andrew MacMeeking and Alex K. Ruxton, heads of the Illinois chapter.

Registration began today at 9 o'clock at the temple.

COMMUNITY CLUB

The South Dixon Community club will meet at the home of Mrs. Herman Wasmund, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Each member is asked to bring one or two guests to this meeting.

MEN, WOMEN'S STOP-OVER CENTER WILL BE SPONSORED BY DIXON SERVICE MOTHERS

The Dixon Service Mothers' Organization is today arranging for the opening the latter part of this week, of a commodious Stop Over station or service men and women's center in the Grow building on River street and Galena avenue. The spacious rooms have been donated by Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Grow, which are now being renovated and redecorated as a central reception center for all men and women in any branch of service visiting in Dixon.

Located as it is across the street from the bus terminal in the Chamber of Commerce building, it is expected to provide accommodations for several hundred men and women in all branches of the service passing through Dixon. The committee in charge of the Stop Over station is composed of the following service mothers: Mrs. E. J. Brown, Mrs. Dudley Grow and Mrs. Clarence Bates. This committee is now receiving donations of furniture and food to be used in the center and from reports today, several fine donations already have been received.

Members of the committee reported that the Dixon Water Co., has donated water service while the Illinois Northern Utilities Co. has assured electric service for the rooms had outside the entrance where a large sign donated by Representative Lyle H. Prescott will be placed. Donations of cookies, cakes, sandwiches and coffee are now being received and any group of individuals desiring to make a donation to this worthy cause may call Mrs. Grow at 1496 or Mrs. Brown at Y-1329.

The Service Mothers organization has been assured the co-operation of Dixon post No. 12, American Legion, in their undertaking, and the Legion post will provide candy bars and cigarettes for the guest service men and women. Other patriotic organizations are also expected to make contributions to the center.

While the Service Mothers organization is now one year old, these ladies are making a very commendable contribution toward the war effort in behalf of the sons and daughters of the membership who are serving in the armed forces. The ladies have carefully selected, packed and forwarded 31 Christmas packages to men who are in overseas service, and at the present time are engaged in preparing Christmas packages for about 100 sons and daughters who are stationed throughout the United States.

The general public is to have an opportunity to support this service men's and women's center on the evening of Saturday, Dec. 11, when a dinner will be served at the Dixon Elks club house by the Service Mothers, all of the proceeds to go toward maintaining the Stop Over station.

Calling All Fathers
Congress has decided to follow the best military judgment in the matter of drafting fathers. The whole discussion has had a positive value far beyond the immediate issue of whether the family provider should be taken into the Army or not. It has focussed our attention on the importance of homes in the fight to preserve the American way of life.

The sound home is the basis of a happy and workable democracy. The home is the social unit where people learn caring for each other and responsibility for more than themselves. In countries abroad where homes are less highly regarded, democracy has fallen. Without family life to train and hold them together, we get the anarchy of every man for himself or the regimentation of every man for the state.

A look at the divorce and juvenile delinquency records, however, shows that American homes began to break up long before there was any talk of drafting fathers. American fathers have always been good wage earners and providers, but there is more to fatherhood than that. The real issue is not only what homes will do when fathers go off to war, but what those fathers do who still have the chance to live with their families.

Senator Harry Truman of the War Investigating Committee says that "raising a family always has and always will be the biggest job any one can tackle."

The father, as head of the family, must provide its fun as well as its funds, its character as well as its cash. He should be a working partner with mother in providing a home where the family hide nothing from one another and help one another to give their best. Where there is plenty of laughter and love. Where meals are not just gulf and go, but where the company and conversation are as good as the food. Where the welcome sign is always out. Where neighbors can drop in to borrow a cup of flour and find real friendship. And courage when times are hard.

No father need wait till his number comes up to be drafted for this job. It is a fight in which every dad should be automatically enlisted—the fight for sound families. It is the one sure defense for America's homes.

Hold Your Hats!
The nationwide coal strike has been described as a loaded gun that John L. Lewis held at Mr. Ickes' head during negotiation of the Government-United Mine Workers wage agreement. And people were so busy watching the hand that held the gun that they forgot to pay any attention to what the UMW's pistol-packer's papa was doing with the other. But it's all clear now.

The versatile and ambidextrous Mr. Lewis was using the other hand to hitch the prancing team of Wages and Prices to the bandwagon. The rush to climb on has already started. And when they're all aboard, then hold your hats, boys.

First aboard are the United Steel Workers. The railroad workers, who have a long-standing wage grievance, probably will be next. After that you can name your own entries. We don't believe that the steel workers will violate their no-strike pledge.

JIM'S APARTMENT
CHAPTER XIII
EMILY'S room faced the front of the house. She could hear every word Nancy was saying to Jim Thompson as they sat there on the steps.
"Don't go in yet. Father's up, at all hours."
"But I must see him, Nancy."
"I'll wait here."
Emily would hear Jim come in the house. The screen door slammed, his feet sounded on the stairs, she heard her father's irritable roar of greeting, her mother's voice.
She heard Jim go downstairs again, two at a time. The door slammed once more, and Nancy said:
"You took long enough. No, don't go over to the apartment. Sit here."
Jim said after a moment, "I should go and catch some sleep. There may be calls. I expect one, in fact."
"You'll be up all night," said Nancy. "Why in the world anyone wants to be a doctor!"
"Don't you know?" he asked, "having lived with your father all these years?"
"It's deadly," she said savagely, "and killing. A horrible business. Mother's never had any fun... she's entitled to it." She added, "I wish you'd been along tonight. It was nice, on the beach. But I did get so bored. At first the summer was rather amusing, picking

Nor is it likely that the railroad workers will walk out. But the miners scored a victory with the strike weapon, and it is a tempting weapon that still lies ready.

It was a cinch, of course, that the steel workers would ask for a new contract and higher wages. When Mr. Ickes, in an uncomfortably tight spot, exceeded the War Labor Board's wage recommendations, he broke the Little Steel formula yardstick. It is quite likely that both Mr. Ickes and Mr. Lewis regard the 15-minutes-for-lunch provision as most of the rest of us—as an unhealthy, unworkable, tongue-in-cheek expedient.

In addition to breaking the Little Steel yardstick, Mr. Ickes reduced the WLB almost to its state of impotence before the Connally-Smith Act when he disregarded the board's sensible precedent and negotiated the UMW agreement while the men were out on strike.

As for prices, it is a foregone conclusion that consumers will be paying more for coal as a result of the new agreement. Other rises in labor costs will be similarly reflected. Higher steel prices probably would mean increased cost of the new farm implements which are promised for next year. The general situation is bound to weaken the administration's plea for further subsidies. The president's appointment of another group to make a cost-of-living survey is not too hopeful, in view of the bland assurance of his food message to congress, and the subsequent admission of the fallibility of such surveys which was implicit in some of his remarks.

If the destination of the buggy ride about to start isn't inflation, the officials in the driver's seat will need more luck, more skill and a stronger hand than they look to have at present.

Literary Expendables
The situation of Italian prisoners in the United States has remained unchanged since Italy's surrender and subsequent elevation to the status of co-belligerent. This situation, though anomalous and perhaps embarrassing, is understandable in the light of more urgent problems confronting the Army. Yet it seems that, knowing the temper and sympathy of most of these prisoners, they might be given a greater opportunity than they now have to do their part as co-belligerents by helping to relieve our manpower shortage.

A representative of the Bowling Proprietors' Association recently went to Washington to ask that war prisoners be allowed to work in bowling alleys as pin setters. It seems a perfectly reasonable request. And there must be other jobs that they could do without submitting Americans to any danger. Obviously this body of prisoners represents a variety of skills. The barrier of language should not keep these men from doing a satisfactory job in many kinds of manual work—for example, the less technical tasks connected with farming, lumbering and construction, as well as other work which is not strictly "essential" but which needs doing, nevertheless.

Co-Belligerent Prisoners
A soldier wants books and needs them, wherever he may be. The Army knows this, and will distribute, through its library service, 20 million books to overseas troops during the coming year.

These books are "expendable." They are of pocket size, paper bound, and inexpensively printed by the Council on Books in Wartime, a non-profit organization. They can go wherever a soldier goes. And if some of the books are lost or destroyed, the financial loss is not great.

We have a paper shortage, it is true. But even so, it is hard to think of a more reasonable expenditure of the existing supply. A soldier's need for the wisdom and entertainment that books afford becomes greater as he moves to strange lands and approaches the fighting front.

In a Pennsylvania town laundry fire-girl workers saved a fireman. And they didn't pull the buttons off his shirt.

Clevelanders filled up their War Chest and now have reason to throw out their own.

The poorest tip today is to tip back in an easy chair while others do the war work.

Fair Enough
by WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Nov. 15.—A recent issue of the Honolulu Advertiser contained a small and, apparently, for Honolulu, commonplace, news item concerning civilian absenteeism which should interest all of us. It said that Capt. John F. Wickham, Provost Judge, had made it "perfectly plain to defendants charged with absenteeism yesterday in his court that he would not be lenient on offenders."

The Advertiser then named 13 men who had been sent to jail for terms of from 20 days to two months for this offense, eight of whom were fined from $100 to $150 in addition. Five got straight sentences of two months without fines. One got two months and $150. In the other cases, the fines were suspended but the men were sent to jail, six of them for 30 days and one for 20 days.

The story does not say by what authority a military officer could impose these penalties for refusal to work but presumably that authority has been established and recognized, possibly because Honolulu, in the light of Dec. 7, 1941, has been identified as a combat area. Similar action has been taken by American military authorities in other war zones in Africa and the South Pacific against civilian sailors for shirking duty and other misconduct.

The commanding officer in Honolulu is Maj. Gen. R. C. Richardson, the very model of the West Point soldier, who served a tour as commandant of Cadets at the Military Academy and who is known in the Army as Nellie Richardson for the reason, I believe, that he is so very precise, proper and strict. He is noted for his tenacity as well, which expressed itself not long ago in a conflict between the military authorities which he represented and the civil authority represented by a federal judge. I lost track of the controversy but believe the settlement was postponed, like the trials of the general's predecessor and of Admiral Kimmel, until a less crowded hour. I have an impression, however, that General Richardson did not lose the contest.

Incidentally, for any light that it may throw on the present case, six of the 13 defendant absentees bore Japanese names and some of the others, at a guess, would be Filipinos. That may be insignificant, however, because there is a large element of citizens and other residents of Japanese blood and Filipinos.

The man who sent the item described himself as an officer of the regular Navy who was present during the attack on Pearl Harbor and who has not been home to the mainland since the war began. He wrote approvingly of the sentences and indicated a conviction that war workers at home who go out on strike are no better than these 13. In this he only voiced an opinion which has been expressed in other letters from men of the Navy, the Army and the Marine Corps in combat areas since John Lewis struck the coal mines last spring. They may not know the law, the issues, or the fine points of unionism but they are living under military compulsion themselves and in constant danger and they are, to understate their feelings, impatient.

It would be absurd to suggest at the present stage of the game that similar proceedings could take place against strikers in war production jobs on the mainland if only for the reason that strikers are so commonplace and strikers are so commonplace, meanwhile, an indirect approach to compulsion has been made at home under the terms of various job-freezing orders and through arbitrary lists of nondeferrable occupations. This procedure is no more legal than the method used in Honolulu but it is less startling because it has been indirect. In many cases, too, it has had the incidental effect of forcing ostensibly free men to pay tribute to unions for permission to work at jobs designated by their government, often as the alternative to military service. Union leaders, it may have been observed, have approved this compulsion for this reason.

Possibly the Honolulu cases approximate fascism but it is worth remembering that fascism in Italy was the counter-revolution against an aggravated condition some elements of which have already made their appearance in the United States in the temporary absence and political voicelessness of millions of the most patriotic and vigorous citizens of the republic.

It would be absurd to suggest at the present stage of the game that similar proceedings could take place against strikers in war production jobs on the mainland if only for the reason that strikers are so commonplace and strikers are so commonplace, meanwhile, an indirect approach to compulsion has been made at home under the terms of various job-freezing orders and through arbitrary lists of nondeferrable occupations. When had it begun? Had it started back in the old hospital days when they'd been good friends, talking, arguing, laughing, working together? Or when he'd walked into the house on Atlantic Street a few weeks ago? Or the first time she had seen him look at Nancy with his blue eyes warming and his lopsided grin? Or tonight, coming home from the hospital? It didn't matter when. It didn't matter whether it had happened years, a month, a week, an hour ago, or just now. It had happened and that was that.

She thought miserably. There's nothing I can do about it—go away perhaps, find a job in Boston—anything.
Someone tapped at her door and her mother came in. "Asleep?"
"No. Wait a moment." Emily fumbled under a pillow, scrubbed her handkerchief across her face and eyes, steadied her voice, reached out and turned on the bedside light. "What's the matter," she asked, "is father—?"
"No, he's all right. Fast asleep." Millicent's hair was pinned into curls, caught under a net cap. Her face was scrubbed. Despite the fine lines, it had a little girl look. She had a pot of cold cream in her hand and sitting down beside Emily's bed she absently began to stroke the cream across her forehead and under her eyes. She said:
"I looked out of the window just now. Nancy's over in the apartment with Jim."

News Behind THE NEWS
By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited)

Washington.—General impression is that this nation now has abandoned isolationism through the 85 to 5 senate ratification of Hull's Moscow agreements.

Neither the senate nor deal leaders nor the ex-isolationists think so.

Certain strong new deal senators are suspicious even of the size of the vote. They think (and say privately) that popular American earnestness and unanimity in demand for any reasonable action to make world peace a likely prospect hereafter, drew nearly all elements into support of the generalities of the Moscow agreements.

When the time comes for definite action under those agreements and when the boys come home, however, they fear the possibility of another quick turnover of popular opinion, or, at least of isolationist viewpoint. Say, for instance, the Russians take Poland, for whose protection technically, the British declared war on Germany—what will be the popular post-war opinion of this country?

The administration already is moving to ward off this prospect of any popular turnover such as followed the last war by doing everything it can to publicize Hull's success in Moscow and promote immediate American sympathies toward Russia.

But why did confirmed isolationists like Senators Nye, Brooks, Tobey, et al, support, a resolution calling for "an international organization?" Their speeches gave no indication of abandonment of principle.

Apparently, the promise of Senators Connally, McKellar, Vandenberg, etc., that each senator could vote his conscience when the treaty is brought back, enabled them to express hope without danger of commitment. They have an endless row of outs, in the phraseology of the resolution which promised "a just and honorable peace."

Certain Republicans also were glad to take this free popular ride also for one special reason in addition to any that may have been mentioned. They think it will take the wind out of Willkie's campaigning sails for the present.

So the situation is this: The administration is now campaigning to popularize Russia as a seal on the tentative, uncertain, seeming senate internationalism. The isolationists are willing to wait until they see what actually is done, what the post-war temperature of the country will be concerning what is done, and particularly what the boys say when they get back.

The official argument therefore is over for the duration—but not ended.

The British are chiming in here and there with the prevailing domestic effort to lean ore Russia's way. The British commander in chief in the Near East (Sir Henry Maitland) sent a little-noticed message to General Mihailovitch in Yugoslavia a few days back.

It did not question his heroic anti-nazi efforts, but suggested some sources close to him were more interested in fighting Tito's Partisans (not all of whom are Communists) than in fighting Germans. This can be described definitely as a result of the Moscow conference.

The current deteriorated condition inside the European fortress was never better described than in a broadcast from Hungary, picked up by an official listening post here. For those who have an ear for subtleties, it told the story completely.

The broadcast started off by saying a certain editorial had appeared recently in a Turkish newspaper. This editorial said Hungary had never wanted to get into the war, that her people had never done much for the axis anyway. They would be only too glad to get out of it and make peace.

The Hungarians saw, however, what the Germans had done to the Italians who acted upon a similar idea. In conclusion, the Hungarian broadcast added: "We have nothing to add and nothing to subtract from the Turkish editorial."

Two Pacific Coast Teams in Rose Bowl

San Francisco, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The war has shattered another precedent in the sports world. There will be no east-west football game in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

Instead, twice-beaten University of Southern California and undefeated University of Washington will make it an all-western affair with the Pacific Coast Conference championship at stake.

A special committee of the coast conference yesterday picked Washington's virtually untied but apparently powerful Huskies to oppose the fast-fading Trojans, winners of the southern half of the war-split conference title, in Pasadena, New Year's Day.

The committee said it had "explored in full the possibility of playing a game of traditional east-west character but from all points of view, including the military, the Washington-Southern California contest was the most desirable and practicable under present war conditions."

It will be the first time in the history of the Rose Bowl contests at Pasadena—dating back to 1916—that two Pacific Coast Conference teams have met. In World War I, service teams from the west coast played there on New Year's Day.

Big Ten Winds Up Conference Games Coming Saturday

None of Coaches Whose Teams Were Riddled by Service Cry

Chicago, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Next Saturday marks the windup of the Big Ten conference football season, which was noted for the total domination of play by schools bolstered with players from other universities. But are the "have-not" coaches from Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio State, Wisconsin and Minnesota crying? No.

Oh, Ray Elliot of Illinois may have a tear or two in his eye after that screwball affair down at Columbus last Saturday when his team was routed out of the dressing room after playing a 26 to 26 tie with Ohio State and forced to watch Johnny Stungis of the Buckeyes boot an extra-inning field goal that spelled a 29 to 26 defeat for the Illini.

But in all Messrs. Stuhldreher of Wisconsin, Hauser of Minnesota, Madigan of Iowa, McMillin of Indiana, and Elliot and Brown have been in good spirits despite the week-in, week-out hammerings their freshmen and 4-F's were forced to absorb.

Madigan's Iowa Hawkeyes are the only ones who haven't broken into the win column and they had the satisfaction of a 7 to 7 tie with Indiana, which with its Bob Hoernschemeyer certainly was one of the nation's outstanding non-military aggregations.

Illini Win 3, Lose 6

That overtime Ohio State win gives the Buckeyes three victories against five defeats for the campaign. Illinois hasn't fared badly—won three and lost six. Minnesota has a 4 and 3 record, Indiana has won four, lost three and tied two, Wisconsin has had one of the most unfortunate seasons. In nine games only Iowa fell to the Badgers who went scoreless in their last five straight.

The Badgers were dealt with graciously last Saturday and lost only 27 to 0 as the Wolverines pulled even with the idle Purdue Boilermakers at five wins and no losses in Big Ten play. Michigan will close against Ohio State and Purdue against Indiana this week with the two V-12 schools due to share the wartime championship.

Illinois will wind up against Northwestern, which became Notre Dame's eighth victim Saturday by a 25 to 6 count, and Wisconsin is to go to Minnesota, which downed Iowa 33 to 14 for its first conference win. Iowa skips outside the circuit to play Nebraska.

Seahawks vs. Irish

Great Lakes, a 21 to 7 victor over Indiana Saturday, will entertain Marquette in the final tuneup for its game with Notre Dame on Nov. 27. But all those games will have to take a seat behind the Notre Dame-Iowa Seahawks battle-royal at South Bend, The Seahawks pulled even with the Irish in victories by notching No. 8 Saturday against Camp Grant, 28 to 13. Both are unbeaten.

Records of midwestern teams:

	W	L	T	Pts
Notre Dame	8	0	0	312
Iowa Seahawks	8	0	0	235
Purdue	8	0	0	207
Michigan	7	1	0	257

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—

Pigskin post-mortem... It probably was the grand climax of an unusual season Saturday when Texas U. actually sent in the water boy—four-foot, 11-inch Billy Andrews—to kick a couple of extra points against TCU. Up to last week there hadn't been as many oddities on the field as you might expect in a season when colleges officially dropped football, then came back with "informal" teams, when some players turned up on two or three different teams through Navy transfers, when student managers were pressed into service, when colleges like Columbia had stars of All-American caliber right handy, but ineligible.

MONDAY MATINEE

The war plant that employs the Indians' Ori Hockett plans to appeal the ball player's 1-A draft classification because "tool-makers are hard to find." So good outfielders, but either way Hockett won't likely be playing next season. The Rangers' Frank Boucher explains he's in condition to play hockey at the age of 42 because farm help was so scarce last summer he had to do the work himself. The Army team sat in on yesterday's Giants-Bears fracas to see how the "T" formation should be worked—and the boys probably decided it's easier to become generals than Bears.

NO SALE

The other day Ford Frick, National League president, tried to put over a fast one on Brooklyn's Branch Rickey by suggesting that they bet a hat on the football game on their old colleges, DePauw and Ohio Wesleyan. Showing that his mind isn't always on baseball, Rickey shot back: "No you don't. I read the papers, too." DePauw, if you haven't noticed, has the nation's highest grid scorer in Bob Steuber and a flock of other Navy Trainees who have helped Bob pile up the touchdowns.

Shoots Pheasant from Road; Fined

Sycamore. — V. R. Anderson, formerly employed at Elburn, but now working in a packing plant at Streator paid $48.65 for the privilege of shooting a pheasant from the road while traveling north of Sycamore.

Sportsmen's club members saw the alleged violation, secured the license number of the automobile and filed the complaint. Sheriff Al Deisz made a trip to Elburn and found that Anderson had used a friend's car for his expedition and after the violation moved to Streator.

On his way to Vandalia, the sheriff left a warrant with the Streator police. Anderson agreed to appear at the police station in Streator but it became necessary for the officers to go after him. He entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before Justice of the Peace J. S. Muhe at Sycamore and it then was necessary to secure the witnesses—two men and two women—who saw the shooting and the man run into a field to secure the bird. Justice Muhe assessed a fine of $25 and costs, the latter amounting to $23.65.

Baseball Essential Sen. Lucas Says in Address to Senate

Illinoisian Hopes That Nothing Will Disturb Games' Continuation

Washington, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Professional baseball is "absolutely essential" to civilian and military morale, Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) said today in pointing out that the sport is making valuable contributions to the war effort while using an "infinitesimal" part of the nation's manpower.

"My sincere hope is that nothing will be done by any agency of the government which will in any way disturb the continuation of this great American institution," Lucas said in an address prepared for senate delivery.

Baseball contributions to war funds total $2,128,698, he declared, and admission taxes paid the government through the National and American leagues for the 1942 and 1943 seasons amounted to $2,289,702.

Sales of war bonds and stamps in drives sponsored by baseball interests netted $1,027,923,225, the senator said, and the baseball equipment fund raised $250,814 to furnish sports equipment for men in the armed forces.

Citing figures he said were obtained from President Ford Frick of the National League, Lucas gave this breakdown of the manpower setup in the senior circuit:

Gives Statistics

Players in the services, 151 (as of Oct. 15, 1943); players on the 1944 reserve list, 263.

Of the latter group, he said, 85 are pre-Pearl Harbor fathers, 37 are classified 4-F in the draft, 20 are over 35 years old, 31 over 30, 31 are post-Pearl Harbor fathers, three are aliens and two are under military age. Eleven are married men with children. Twenty-one have been reclassified in 1-A and 10 already have been ordered to report for induction examinations.

Lucas said American league figures on manpower and draft were not available to him but expressed the belief they would be "very similar" to those of the National circuit.

The senator said both major leagues have reduced their travel to a minimum and could carry on to the satisfaction of the Office of Defense Transportation.

Lucas pointed out that both England and Russia have maintained spectator sports during the war, in most instances drawing huge crowds.

LUCKY KICK—FINES BOYS' LEG
Hagerstown, Md. —(AP)— It took a horse's kick to fix 15-year-old Billy Cohill's leg so he could walk without crutches.

Billy, son of a Hancock orchardist, suffered a leg infection after a soccer game injury a year ago. The other day a horse kicked him and drove to the surface a bone chip which X-rays had failed to disclose.

Twelve minutes after most of 36,331 spectators had left, Ohio State's football squad rushed from the showers back to stadium and in two seconds had changed score from 26-26 tie to 29-26 in their favor in game against University of Illinois. Photo shows Ernie Parks, Ohio back, 22, scoring Ohio's first touchdown for Buckeyes.

By "FRIDAY"

Tonight at the Recreation alleys, Treins, in first place in the Ladies' league, with 19-8 meet Phillips Bakery, tied for third with 17-10. Frazier Roofing, holding second with 18-9, take on H. A. Roe Co., and the other top team, Roberts and Heers, in a tie with Phillips for third, will roll Reynolds Red Edgers.

In a match game with Sterling at the Recreation over the week end, the Dixon team won by a margin of 144 pins. John Lange headed the Dixon keggers with 595, having the high game of the match with 221, and K. Howard led the Sterling bowlers with 587.

In the point match with Polo Sunday evening, Dixon again came out on top by six points, 43 to 37. This was considerably closer than the match at Dixon and was in doubt until the last game and the total pins were added up.

Dixon had three 4-point winners, Wayne Weidman, Rosebrook, and D. Weidman. Polo also had three with Jimmy Noakes, Hurdle and Markle.

The termites which have been boring from within on Hank Chamness' bowling ball must have been frozen on the way up to the northern town as he turned in the best series of the evening, 573, with 205, 188 and 180, losing one point in the last game, dropping it by only five pins when he drew a split in the tenth frame.

Jim Noakes was high for Polo with the same score, 573, on games of 189, 191, 193, picking up four points over his opponent.

200 games were comparatively scarce last night, the select few being: Smith, 242; B. Baker, 205; H. Baker, 201; Daschbach, 200. Chamness, 205; Tilton, 213; Hurdle, 215; Rosebrook, 200; and D. Weidman, 200. The complete scores are elsewhere on this page.

"Dutch" Deibert had the best alibi of the night for his low series when he arrived at Polo and found in Concordia a 3 to 0 record. He had a pair of bowling shoes on his bag, BUT, they were both for the left foot.

The high ten bowlers in tonight's Ladies' league are grouped so close that a difference of 20 or 30 pins in their series would make considerable changes. They stand to date:

Aldred De Marigny,

go to the United States." U. S. Consul, John McAndrews said he would refer the request to the state department at Washington should De Marigny and De Visdelou seek admission to the United States.

De Marigny declared he had offered "my military services here, in Canada and to the De Gaulle movement, but I was rejected because of my stomach trouble."

"I am sorry this was not better understood," he declared. His trial was expensive, he said, "and now I must do something."

Nassau censorship prevented transmission of the information until this morning.

The governor-in-council is an executive group composed of the governor of the Bahamas, now the Duke of Windsor, colonial officials and the governor's advisers. The Duke himself is in the United States, and did not take part in the session.

Mexico Will Be Haven

It was learned that Mexico will be a haven for the two men if arrangements can be made.

They plan to leave within the next two weeks.

De Visdelou was shocked by his inclusion in the order. Nancy Oakes De Marigny, the acquitted man's wife, was depressed by the development.

She said she hoped to go to New York for a surgical operation if arrangements can be made for De Marigny to accompany her.

Nancy's fortune is in sterling, and she would run into currency control and exchange difficulties except in England and in other small colonies such as Bermuda.

She inherited the estate from her father, Sir Harry, whose bludgeoned and burned body was found last July 8 in a bedroom of his big seaside villa, Westbourne.

De Marigny was arrested July 9 and charged with murder. He was acquitted last Thursday night after a 22-day trial. Although the jury voted 9 to 3 to free him, it also voted unanimously a recommendation for his deportation.

De Marigny and De Visdelou are natives of the British Indian Ocean island of Mauritius. De Visdelou appeared as an alibi witness for his friend.

Among the members of the council are three principals in the murder trial—Attorney General Eric Hallyman, the chief prosecutor; chief defense attorney Godfrey Higgs and Harold G. Christie, an important witness who discovered Sir Harry's body.

Details of the special Saturday session were not announced. De Marigny had defied the jury's recommendation, saying "I am staying in Nassau."

Three Federal Workers Openly Defy Congress

Washington, Nov. 15—(AP)—Three federal employees defied congress today by reporting for work as usual.

The lawmakers, in a rider attached to an appropriation bill last summer decreed that their salaries should be stopped today because of alleged affiliation with subversive organizations.

Goodwin Watson and William E. Dodd, Jr., were at their desks in the Federal Communications commission here. Watson is chief of the analysis division. Dodd, son of the late ambassador to Germany, reported around mid-day for his customary shift editing news monitored from foreign broadcasts.

Secretary of Interior Ickes already has said that Robert Morse Lovett would continue at his post in the Virgin Islands after November 15 and sue for his salary. Lovett was government secretary of the islands when congress took action against him, and was appointed by Ickes last month to another position with similar duties, executive assistant to the governor.

German Officers in Norway Reminded to Destroy all Papers

Stockholm, Nov. 15—(AP)—The Swedish-Norwegian press bureau reported today that Norwegian patriots in the Trondheim district on the western coast of Norway had found German orders reminding Nazi officers of their duty to destroy all military records in the case of capitulation.

The documents advised troops how to act if their units were suddenly dissolved and they were forced to lay down their weapons. At the same time, a dispatch from Copenhagen said it had been announced officially that the Germans had proclaimed a "state of highest alarm" in Jutland, the northernmost portion of the Danish peninsula. No reasons were given.

Habeas Corpus Proceedings—

A petition for a hearing on a habeas corpus proceeding has been granted by Judge George C. Dixon in the action brought by Attorney A. G. Harris, representing Olga Trevison, against the Dixon state hospital and Dr. Warren G. Murray, managing officer. The court also granted a petition filed by the attorney to permit the plaintiff to prosecute her case as a poor person. The petition states that the plaintiff was committed as a feeble minded person to the Dixon state hospital from the Municipal Court of Chicago on Oct. 29, 1934 and that she is at the present time illegally held through improper commitment. The hearing has been set for 9 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 20.

No Secret Pacts; Hull—

Washington, Nov. 15—(AP)—Secretary of State Hull, in his first public report since his historic conference with the British and Russian foreign ministers, said today that no secret agreements were made in Moscow. Expressing pleasure over the reception accorded the Moscow declaration by the American public, Hull said the agreement reached among the United States, Great Britain, Soviet Russia and China came about because each of these big nations is trying to push away from isolationism what he described as sane international principles.

Reprisals for Sofia Bombing Threatened

London, Nov. 15—(AP)—The Germans in an obvious effort to impress Bulgarians, threatened dire reprisals upon Britain today for what was called a "naked and undisguised terror raid" on Sofia yesterday in which many persons were reported killed.

The Berlin radio declared "neither British nor Americans can claim they were retaliating against Bulgaria, because the Bulgarians have never done anything which would in any way justify such action against the Bulgarian population. Germany will retaliate for raids on civilians on her southeastern allies by air attacks on the British Isles."

Bulgarian has declared war on Britain and the United States but not on Soviet Russia. Her participation in the war has been limited to affording bases for Germany and to using her troops against Yugoslavia and Greece.

OPA Assailed in

The OPA was not alone in seizing legislative and judicial functions, the committee said, promising to expose in future reports "other executive agencies."

The committee said documents found in the files of David Ginsburg, former OPA general counsel who was inducted into the Army last April, proved that "a paramount purpose" of legislation drafted by Ginsburg and Leon Henderson, first OPA head, was to place, "so far as possible, final and non-reviewable power and authority in the hands of the administrator."

Beyond that, the report dealt generally with OPA as a whole, rather than with any individuals.

Illegal Judicial System

The committee said it found that OPA "has developed an unauthorized and illegal judicial system and that through the mass of rules and regulations daily enacted by that agency it has also developed such intricate and involved administrative review machinery that litigants are completely bewildered by the maze of procedure through which they must wander to eventually arrive at a court which will grant them only the crumbs of judicial relief."

This situation must be changed and changed immediately," it declared.

In a period of less than 19 months, the committee said, 3,196 regulations, amendments and orders were issued by OPA, many of them having been drafted by "obscure officials having little business experience." Only 552 public laws were enacted by congress during the same period, it added.

The committee said it was "sympathetic with the idea of preventing inflation, but the complicated and unreasonable regulations which are being daily issued x x x and the interpretations placed thereon" by OPA officials "are driving a large number of our citizens to the point of desperation."

"Notwithstanding the plain provisions of the act," the report said, "your committee has found, in examining the files of the former general counsel x x x a well devised and planned scheme to control the profits of American industry by freezing them at the level earned by such industry during the period 1936-1939," irrespective of increased production costs.

Highlights From Report

Highlights from the committee's report: "The office of Price Administration made it clear that it construed its power to authorize it to sentence citizens of the United States to starvation."

Simplification of OPA rules, regulations and orders "is an immediate necessity."

"Illegal, absurd, useless and conflicting regulations x x x are creating such great confusion that it is impossible for the average citizen to know how to comply."

OPA has "consistently displayed a tendency x x x to avoid recourse to course of law, even to the extent of stretching the statutes in some cases beyond all reasonable understanding."

Some of OPA's actions amount "to the taking of private property without due process of law."

Establishment of a system of "courts" within OPA "was all that was necessary to make of it a complete government, inasmuch as it already exercised executive and legislative powers."

Much Punishment Severe Punishment meted out by OPA "is in many cases most severe," some of its orders being "calculated to completely drive a person out of business."

"With top officials of the Office of Price Administration entertaining the opinion that congress lacks understanding of the legislation it has enacted, your committee ceases to wonder at the frequent misinterpretations given by that agency to its guiding statutes."

The administrator has "in a great many instances either completely failed" to hold conferences with industries affected by Price regulations "or else has held them only after having arrived at the regulation."

OPA has "misinterpreted the language of the act so as to arrogate unto itself additional powers nowhere granted it by law."

OPA has "developed an unauthorized and illegal judicial system."

The War Today

The German industrial centers to pieces. The Fuehrer can't replace his losses on the eastern front, and consequently is growing weaker each day as he pulls his line back and leaves more supplies behind.

The harsh corollary to this is that even if the Nazi chief could replace his losses in manpower—which he cannot do—he would be unable to give them the equipment necessary to withstand the Russian onslaught. The German army still possesses great defensive power, as we likely shall have demonstrated when we undertake the great invasion of France, but it has shot its bolt as an offensive machine.

As things stand, the fate of the retreating German forces is bouncing about like the ball in a roulette wheel, and nobody can say where the ball will drop. While there are bound to be local Nazi disasters, one would expect them to keep retreating in hope of being able to make a stand before long. However, Hitler may not be able to bring his war-machine out of its skid and it may just keep on sliding towards the Reich.

inconclusive, however, and official reports yesterday said the Germans had established numerical superiority and had straddled the island at its narrowest point, virtually dividing the British and Italian defending forces in the north and south, although the allies still held Leros, the chief town.

The administrator has "in a great many instances either completely failed" to hold conferences with industries affected by Price regulations "or else has held them only after having arrived at the regulation."

OPA has "developed an unauthorized and illegal judicial system."

a further large formation of their fleet."

This shifted the emphasis of the enemy argument from losses inflicted on the allied force to its great strength. That was promptly construed here as a build-up for the future explanation that once Rabaul had cost the allies heavily there was no further purpose in holding it.

Berlin's New Song 'My British Buddy' Sweeping London

London, Nov. 15—(AP)—A new American song is sweeping over London and its psychological punch is equal to another big chunk of lend-lease or a fresh troopship of soldiers.

It's Irvin Berlin's "My British Buddy," heard for the first time when his all-soldier musical hit, "This Is the Army," was given its premiere here Wednesday night.

Composed in Blackout

Berlin, clad in his authentic trappings of a sergeant in the last war—a broad brimmed campaign hat, baggy breeches, wrapped leggings, and a high collared tunic—sang it himself.

Berlin thought it up one night when he was walking the London streets in a blackout at a time when the Germans were attacking Britain from the air. It seemed to him, he said, that he had found the right spirit of British-American comradeship, the sort of spirit that doesn't need prompting or rhetoric.

Catches on Rapidly

How well he succeeded is demonstrated by the way his song has burst the bounds of a single theater and caught on among all sorts of people in London. The lyrics show why:

I arrived in London Just the other day. Speaking to a soldier From the U. S. A. He told me of the army life he led.

And speaking of the British boys, he said: We're as different as can be. He thinks hes' winning the war And I think it's me. But we're in there pitching And on one thing we agree: When the job is done We'll be clapping hands across the sea.

My British buddy. We're as different as can be, I like my coffee and rolls And he likes his tea. But we're in there pitching Till we get to Germany. When we've licked the Hun And the Japs are done We'll be clapping hands across the sea.

Composer Berlin has presented the British rights to the song to the British service charities committee.

nazi forces off from the southern German armies. Moscow said the Russians were 30 miles west of Zhitomir.

The broadcast reported renewed soviet attacks northwest of Kerch in the drive against German and Rumanian forces sealed off in the Crimea, and fresh soviet attacks in the Dnieper bend.

Large-Scale Offensive

The German-controlled Paris radio said that the Russian assaults in the Krivoi Rog area in the Dnieper bend were developing into a large-scale offensive on a broad front.

Sees His Co-Worker
Meet Death by Bomb

Rembert James Writes
Dramatic Story From Bougainville Isle

(War Correspondent Rembert James, who accompanied the allied invasion forces at Treasury Island, at Choiseul and on Nov. 1 at Bougainville, was wounded in the legs and feet Nov. 7 by Japanese aerial bombs which killed one newspaper man in a tent on Bougainville. James here tells the dramatic story.)

By REMBERT JAMES
On Bougainville Island, Nov. 8 (Delayed) — (AP) — Japanese bombs which fell 10 yards from marine corps press headquarters on Bougainville Island killed War Correspondent Keith Palmer, 57 years old, at 2:30 a. m. yesterday, and it was his own amazing curiosity that contributed to his death.

The last man to see Palmer alive was Tech. Sgt. Ted C. Link, marine corps combat correspondent and former St. Louis reporter, another of the men wounded.

"I was about 15 feet from Palmer," Link said. "I was inching along the ground toward my foxhole outside the tent, Palmer (37 year old writer for Newsweek magazine and Australian newspapers) was inside. By the light of tracer bullets from our own anti-aircraft guns I saw Palmer on his bunk leaning up on one elbow and holding up the tent flap. He was watching the tracers.

Two Bombs Fall Near Tent
"Jap planes had been coming over all night and we had all got tired of getting out of our bunks. (The enemy air bombardment preceded by less than four hours a landing from barges by a Japanese force four miles north of the beachhead to attempt a counter-stroke, which since has resulted in failure.)

"Anti-aircraft fire was so close and so hot that I had a feeling something was going to happen. I wanted to get up and run for the foxhole, but something held me down, fear I guess.

"A moment afterward two bombs fell in front of the tent. That glimpse I had of Palmer silhouetted by tracers was the last time any one saw him alive."

The bombs clearly were intended for a powerful anti-aircraft position set up nearby. One 500 pounder hit 10 yards from the press hut entrance. A smaller bomb landed five yards farther away.

All In Tent Injured
In killing Palmer the Japanese wiped out half of the white civilian population of Bougainville. I was the other half. I was sleeping 10 feet from Palmer.

Fragments of the bombs struck me in the legs and feet and likewise injured Capt. Patrick O'Sheel of Inglewood, N. J., marine corps press relations officer; Sgt. Link, and Pvt. Paul Ellsworth, DeKalb, Ill., combat artist.

Capt. O'Sheel was the first man to reach Palmer. He turned away a moment later. There was no heartbeat.

It was professional curiosity that kept Palmer on the island after a majority of the correspondents had left for communications centers to file their stories. With an amazing zest he spent his days and part of his nights interviewing generals, colonels, captains, and privates and talking to black natives who confessed in pidgin English their belief in witchcraft. Palmer constantly was astonishing himself with the wonders of the Bougainville jungle.

Buried On Island
He was fascinated equally by a great spider that wove a web over his bunk and by the brilliance of the orange, red and green tracer bullets of the anti-aircraft guns. The morning after his death they wrapped him in his damp-proof poncho and a blanket and buried him among the marine dead in the week old cemetery on Cape Torokina.

There is a thin line of coconut trees down the middle of the narrow cape, and one of those trees shades his grave. Beyond it are a few miles of green jungle; then the high shaft of Mount Bazana, an active volcano. The marines erected a plain wooden marker inscribed:

"Keith Palmer, war correspondent."

BRINGING THE FIRE TO THE FIREMEN

Denver — (AP) — Firemen couldn't reach this fire so they had the fire brought to them. A caboose on a 90 car freight train caught fire as it was leaving the rail yards.

The fire department telephone operator realized the firemen couldn't reach the freight train promptly, because of intervening tracks, so he instructed the train crew to uncouple the caboose and shove it four blocks down a siding to a hydrant.

Within a matter of minutes a hose truck was at the hydrant, waiting for the fire to arrive.

COIN LOST 60 YEARS
FOUND FOR OWNER

Mount Vernon, Wash. — (AP) — Franklin Good, 77, has recovered a 50-cent piece he lost in 1883. The coin, which Good earned by shooting ducks with a single-barreled muzzleloading shotgun, fell out of his pocket and rolled into a mortise of a home he was helping his father to build. Recently he heard a new owner planned to raze the building and told him of the lost coin. It was found within a few inches of the spot where Good remembered dropping it 60 years ago.

Williamsburg, Va. — (AP) — A bank clerk in civilian life, then a petty officer in the Navy's Seabees, George W. A. Schreiner, who calls himself "an ordinary guy who sometimes went to church", took over the assignment when the need for a chaplain arose as the invasion party was at sea. He conducted church services to which the friendly natives as well as service men came.

Tank Busters
go into action

The Army's versatile "half-tracks" have proved to be death on wheels to enemy tanks. They have won the acclaim of fighters on all United Nations fronts. And the call is for more and more of these hard-hitting tank-busters.

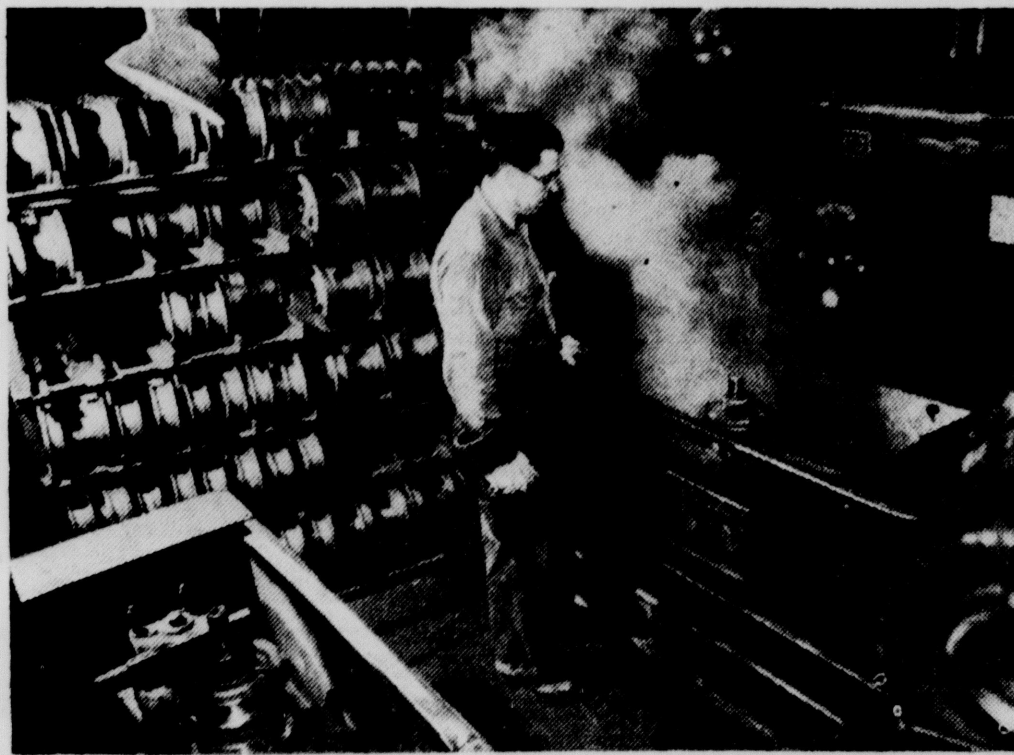

That call is being answered, too, by Electric Power, the mighty force of mass production. Though unheard and unseen, this dynamic energy heats the huge furnaces of the steel mill... drives the lathes and drills of the machine shop... propels the powerful cranes and conveyors of the assembly plant. From start to finish Electric Power speeds every operation of manufacture.

That's true not only for the production of tank-busters but for every piece of war equipment manufactured in Northern Illinois. Yes, Electric Power is the force behind war production in this area.

Electric Power Speeds War Production

And here electric induction ovens are used for the hardening of the track rollers for tank-busters. These rollers must be tough to perform their job, and the induction process helps to make them so.

TODAY on the HOME FRONT

by JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, Nov. 15—(AP)—If you're dizzy trying to watch labor's bubbling pot, here's the ABC background to keep in mind: The pot boils over.

All over the country, labor—but particularly the steel workers—is beginning to demand higher wages. The nation's railroad workers at this moment are battling on whether to strike for better pay.

All the ferment revolves around a phrase—the "Little Steel" formula.

The story goes back a year to the autumn of 1942. At that time living costs had risen 17 percent above what they were in January, 1941, the date when costs began to climb.

The War Labor Board, created by Roosevelt to stabilize wages as one of several means of preventing inflation, was besieged by wage demands to meet the increased living costs.

Needed was a method which could be applied to all hourly workers equally. The board linked hourly rates to pay with living costs because otherwise a worker whose wages lagged too far behind living costs would be earning less for his labor.

(The board wasn't concerned then or now with a man's total earnings through extra hours of work paid for at the standard rate of time and a half for overtime. It was the basic hourly rate which counted.)

So in the autumn of 1942 the board hit upon what is called the "Little Steel" formula which would apply to all hourly workers. It got that name because the board discovered the formula in granting a wage increase to steel workers. This was the formula:

No one should receive an hourly rate of pay higher than 15 percent above what a particular job called for in January, 1941. Remember that this formula was announced when living costs were 17 percent higher than in January, 1941.

The board figured that 2 percent difference wasn't too great and hoped the government would be able to keep living costs from going beyond 17 percent by various methods, such as price control.

But living costs continued upward. Now they are 23 percent higher than in January, 1941, or 8 percent above the 15 percent wage increase permitted under the "Little Steel" formula.

So now, one year after the formula was created, the steel workers come back for higher wages to meet higher living costs. This would mean scrapping the formula. Labor says that the government records on living costs are not accurate, that costs are even higher than the figures show.

That's one part of the story. Here's another:

Just about that time in 1942 when the WLB was concocting the "Little Steel" formula, the railroad workers—one million in the 15 non-operating brotherhoods—were demanding wage increases.

The negotiations have been long-drawn out but at last a special board appointed to consider the demands recommended that the 15 brotherhoods receive not the 20-cent an hour increase asked but only 8 cents.

The brotherhoods accepted this and signed an agreement with the railroads but the government's economic stabilizer, Fred Vinson, said a flat 8-cent increase for all the 1,000,000 workers would violate the "Little Steel" formula. He turned thumbs down.

A new board, after reviewing the whole problem, on Nov. 8 recommended for the 15 brotherhoods a sliding scale of increases ranging from 8 cents an hour for the lower paid workers to 4 cents an hour for the higher paid. Vinson approved this plan but the brotherhoods turned thumbs down. They want 8 cents across the board.

Meanwhile, special board recommendations for the five operating brotherhoods—which had asked a 30 percent increase or at least $3 more a day—was 4 cents an hour, or only 4 1/2 percent increase. Spokesmen for that group of brotherhoods called the offer an "insult".

So, after a year of dickering, all the brotherhoods decided to poll their members on a strike.

But the shadow of John L. Lewis and his coal miners hovers in the background of what is happening now and what will happen.

Although organized labor promised after Pearl Harbor to forego strikes for the war's duration, agreeing to have their demands settled by arbitration, Lewis' union struck four times this year and cost the nation 40 million tons of badly needed coal.

After three strikes the miners went back to the pits for an armistice period while their demands were considered. The WLB, refusing to approve all of Lewis' demands, on grounds that they violated the "Little Steel" formula, had announced a policy of not approving any agreement reached under pressure of a strike.

But when this month the miners struck for a fourth time, Roosevelt turned the mines over to Interior Secretary Ickes who quickly reached an agreement with Lewis. The WLB reversed its policy and approved the Ickes-Lewis agreement.

Lewis did not achieve a 100 percent, clear-cut victory. His original demands were for a flat $2 a day increase, pay for certain working tools the miners had to buy, and pay for the time they used in traveling underground from a mine mouth to the working pit.

Now, including 25 cents a day for tools, his miners will receive $2.18 more a day but they will have to work six extra hours a week. At the same time they will be paid—part of the total figure—for underground travel time.

The board says this agreement doesn't smash the "Little Steel" formula because the miners' basic hourly rate of pay is unchanged and what additional money they receive will be for extra work and overtime work.

But all labor has seen the WLB approve an agreement reached during a strike. The board yielded once. It may be put to the test again.

And if the board grants the steel workers a basic hourly increase, then the "Little Steel" formula goes out the window and all over the country wages will have to be adjusted upward.

Washington By Peter Edson Telegraph Special Service

Through the President's food message to Congress, and through various statements in appearances before Congress, the 1944 program of War Food Administrator Marvin Jones is beginning to appear. Judge Jones himself has made public no complete report on the plans he has been making since his appointment last June, but unofficially and in broad outline his policy may be said to shape up somewhat like this:

First—establish definitely, and then let the farmers know well in advance of their planting seasons, just what both the floor prices and the ceiling prices will be on all the agricultural products needed in the war effort.

Second—let them know what quantities of each of the farm products will be needed.

Third—then see that the farmers will have enough fertilizer, farm machinery and labor to handle those crops.

Judges Jones, as an ex-congressman himself, is considered one of the best operators the Department of Agriculture set-up has ever had in dealing with Congress.

PRICES AND QUANTITIES

The major part of his attention has been given to the first part of his program—determining the quantities needed and the floor, support prices that will be guaranteed to farmers next year. The labor, fertilizer and machinery requirements have not been neglected, but have in the main been handled by deputy administrators in the WFA.

Acres to be planted in the various crops next year have in the main been agreed on. The last of the "teams" of agricultural experts who went out to the states to collect data on what could be grown next year, returned to Washington about the first of November, and by Nov. 15 the totals should be ready for presentation to congressional committees. J. B. Hutson, president of the Commodity Credit Corporation, whose subsidizing future hands in the congressional balance, may make the presentations to Congress in his dual role of director of the Food Production Administration, in order to give Congress estimates of what will be needed by CCC to establish and maintain the support price needed to get the production.

Judge Jones himself has made the estimate that his program would require $500 million for subsidies in the next 18 months, on top of the subsidy appropriations already made by Congress and the money will be received from the sale of crops already purchased and held by the government. The 1943 subsidies are costing some $800 million.

CROSS PURPOSES

While the War Food Administration is working to have its program accepted by Congress, WFA itself is being worked on three ways by Congress, by the farm organizations and by industrial labor pressure groups—all at somewhat cross purposes and for different motives.

Sen. Henry F. Byrd has openly attacked the whole subsidy idea as "bypassing" Congress. Sen. Carl Hatch, apparently believing it will be impossible to get approval for further subsidies, has had a group of congressmen meet with Judge Jones in an effort to find other means of meeting the same end, which is to keep control over the cost of living. This ultimate objective is as much a part of the Jones program as are his proposals to accomplish it.

The farm organization leaders keep up their needling of the War Food Administration, but largely on current problems. They opposed the recently established ceiling on soft wheat. They are again establishing ceilings on citrus fruits, now under consideration. They are particularly opposed to price rollbacks.

Labor groups, on the other hand keep up their pressure campaign for rollbacks on the cost of living.

It is against all these confused and conflicting forces that the War Food Administrator must work for the acceptance of his program, which since the 10,000-word food message to Congress has now become the President's program. Maybe Judge Jones can put it over. If not, watch for a lot of midnight oil burning around WFA.

Now he's sewing regularly with the group—and gets "a kick out of it".

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 14.

The Golden Text was, "If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die; but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live" (Rom. 8: 13).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind. . . . That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; And be renewed in the spirit of your mind; And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness" (Eph. 4: 17, 22-24).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "It is only by acknowledging the supremacy of Spirit, which annuls the claims of matter, that mortals can lay off mortality and find the indissoluble spiritual link which establishes man forever in the divine likeness, inseparable from his creator" (p. 491).

Life is more peaceful now for Mrs. Harles, whose parents came up the Mississippi river to Missouri from New Orleans in 1833. CAP VISOR IDEA ADAPTED TO HOUSES

Chicago—(AP)—The visor of a man's cap has been adapted as the principle for a new architectural trend.

In order to utilize rays of the sun as an auxiliary heating unit, and thereby reduce fuel bills, an architect here has designed "solar houses" with flat, extended eaves which permit the low-hanging winter sun to penetrate deep into the living rooms in winter, but block out the glaring rays of the sun in summer.

Brides-to-be will find a nice selection of wedding invitations and announcements at the B. F. Shaw Printing Company.

War Spotlight Moves Closer to Rome

Rout of New Deal in 1944 Elections Forecast by Green

Illinois Governor and Attorney General on Saturday Program

Addressing the Illinois Young Republican organization at the Lincoln hotel in Springfield Saturday afternoon, Gov. Dwight H. Green predicted the national elections of 1944 will result in the most thorough job of political housecleaning in the history of American government. The governor and Attorney General George Barrett, who also spoke, were cheered by 500 delegates, who hailed the pronouncement of Gov. Green that the new deal is headed for oblivion.

Calling on the state of Illinois to "serve as the spearhead" in the drive to regain constitutional government, Gov. Green said he is certain that the nation will follow Illinois' example and elect federal officials and members of congress who "truly represent those principles born in the Republican party over a century ago."

The governor directed a broadside at national bureaucracy, describing its record of waste and extravagance as an insult to the millions of thrifty American people who are giving their last penny to the support of their country at war.

The functions of state government were at a standstill or in complete chaos when the Republican state administration took office three years ago, Green said. He added that the state was deeply "in the red" and that pay rolls were clogged with non-existent or non-working persons.

"The whole was presided over and under the rigid control of a national bureaucracy, working in unholy partnership with Boss Kelly's machine in Chicago to establish a 'puppet bureaucracy' in Springfield," he said.

The governor accused the New Deal of carrying on a carefully calculated attack on free enterprise throughout its decade of power.

Charges Liberties Periled
"For more than 10 years now our country has been under the rule of men who have conducted a steady and unrelenting attack upon our Constitution and upon the individual liberty which it protects," he said. "They have been using every means that the power of public office and the influence of public trust, public funds, national emergency, and political patronage can give them to regulate and ruin our great economic system."

Atty. Gen. Barrett said that a Republican victory in 1944 is essential to rescue the youth of America from the New Deal philosophy of hate.

"Do you realize," he asked, "that there are millions of boys and girls in their formative years of adolescence who cannot remember any other President but Roosevelt, or any other philosophy but the New Deal?"

Fears for Americanism
"A fourth term for Roosevelt would saddle 16 years of New Dealism on the youth of America. If this were to happen, Americanism as we know it, Americanism as it was founded by Jefferson and Washington, would fade from the scene of American life.

"We cannot expect boys and girls to be builders if they are brought up under a political regime which would destroy individual initiative and free enterprise. Under the New Deal our boys and girls daily see small businesses being wiped out by bureaucratic rule."

Lyons Lauds Green
Richard J. Lyons, assistant director of the state revenue department, called for an unopposed Republican gubernatorial primary, asserting that any man who would enter the race against Green would be rendering the party a disservice.

Resolutions adopted by the convention condemned the bureaucratic attitude of the executive branch of the federal government, the attempts of the executive branch to usurp the powers of congress, and the dilatory tactics of the executive branch in dealing with domestic problems.

Other resolutions endorsed the record of Gov. Green and expressed approval of the work of Sen. Wayne Brooks (R-Ill.), Lt. Gov. Hugh W. Cross, Atty. Gen. Barrett, State Auditor Lueder, State Treasurer William Stratton, Superintendent of Schools Vernon L. Nickell, Sen. Arthur P. Benson, president pro tem of the state senate, and Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg of the house.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

There's a gag in Hollywood that every time Red Skelton sees a man in uniform he does a show. Not long ago, so the story goes, he spotted routines before he discovered the guy was a hotel doorman.

It's really more than just a gag, though. Ever since the war started, the film comedian has given more of his time and talent to the war effort, with less publicity about it, than anyone we know. Several weeks ago we decided something should be done about it.

We talked it over with Edna Skelton and Johnny Gudel and Red's film studio associates. And so the other night on Red's radio program, we publicly expressed an appreciation he so richly deserved.

On behalf of thousands of soldiers and sailors and marines who have written us letters praising Red's entertainment tours, on behalf of the Treasury Department and on behalf of the millions of readers of this column throughout the nation, we had the pleasure of honoring him for his 1000 appearances for the armed forces, the Treasury Department, benefits and charity performances.

Honor List
In physical form, the appreciation was expressed in a lamp fashioned from a 75-mm. shell from the boys of the 143rd Field Artillery. But in spirit, the lamp represented a lot of things—big and little things—which Red Skelton has done.

The list is endless. We've just touched the high spots.

LITTLE THINGS

We didn't mention the time Red donned a blond wig and a dress and was inducted as a SPAR to stimulate a recruiting drive. Or the time he gave a complete, two hours' show for three soldiers and a marine in the lounge car of a train returning to Hollywood. Or the time he made a nazi prisoner laugh for the first time since he was taken prisoner by pulling the old vaudeville trick of pretending to break his nose by walking into a wall. Those are just some of the little things.

Red Skelton has donated his time and talent whenever and wherever it was needed. That's why we found it a great privilege to honor Red Skelton on behalf of just about everybody.

He deserves everything we've said about him in this column. Why, he's even a Brownie in the Girl Scouts.

Distillery Will Sell Stock to Stockholders

New York, Nov. 15—(AP)—The American Distilling Company announced yesterday it would sell to stockholders its inventory of 245,000 barrels of whisky, fifth largest stock in the country, thereby withdrawing from the commercial whisky industry for the duration.

The company, largest independent in the business, estimated book value of the stock at $8,000,000, and in a formal statement said sale would be made solely to stockholders of record as of a future date to be fixed under authorization of the company's board of directors.

The huge inventory totals approximately 3,750,000 cases or 45,000,000 bottles. The domestic whisky, the announcement said, is four years of age or less, and most of the inventory is stored at the company's principal plant in Pekin, Ill.
